

I find that local TV news coverage spends most of the time covering sensational events like murders and abandoned babies. I have stopped looking to local TV channels for any kind of regional political coverage, and the result is that it's difficult to make informed political decisions. It's outrageous that this kind of entertainment programing is being passed off as news.